Administration and expenditure of the Chancellor's departments, 2008-09 Apr 08 2021 The Chancellor's departments faced extraordinary challenges during 2008-09, mainly arising from the need to respond to the emerging financial crisis and associated economic downturn. The report concludes that it is very difficult to draw final conclusions regarding their level of success - too much remains unfinished business. It draws attention, in particular, to the new relationship between the Treasury and UKFI, and recommends that the Government considers whether the formal terms of the relationship need some re-definition in the light of experience. The report is particularly concerned by the dire results for HM Revenue &

Customs (HMRC) of a cross-Government staff survey pilot study. The Report calls for HMRC management to publish a clear and detailed plan to provide focus and direction to their efforts to re-engage with their workforce. Noting a rise in customer complaints and that, on average, only 57 per cent of calls to HMRC contact centres were answered during 2008-09. HMRC should publish more data to enable effective scrutiny of its performance against its targets, data which is essential for tax gaps to be closed and for the take up of the working tax credit to be assessed and improved. The Report is critical of the failure of most departments to provide accurate and timely monthly in-year figures to the Treasury. Other sections of the report cover National Savings & Investment, the revaluation of

UK statutory ports and the performance of the Royal Mint. Express-Wörterbuch Englisch-Deutsch, Deutsch-Englisch Dec 04 2020

Do you want to ensure that inflation does not eat away at everything that you have worked so hard for? Do you want to own wealth outside of the paper financial system? If your answer to these three questions is yes, then you need to own real money. Not rands, dollars or euros: these are merely fiat currencies. You want to own gold and silver, as without them, your wealth is only worth the value of the ink and the paper on which it is printed. For thousands of years, holders of gold and silver have discovered that both metals are monetary antidotes against global financial chaos caused by debt, fiscal imprudence and ad infinitum money-printing. The proprietor of even a few ounces of gold is not only an investor but an individual with the assurance that their wealth and purchasing power remains preserved. Going for Gold is not an attempt to coerce investors into allocating a portion of their total investment portfolio to precious metals. Rather, it speaks directly to the South African investor and declutters and contextualises the vast

What is Legal Education for? Feb 24 2020 How we interpret and understand the historical contexts of legal education has profoundly affected how we understand contemporary educational cultures and practices. This book, the result of a Modern Law Review seminar, both celebrates and critiques the lasting impact of Peter Birks' influential edited collection, Pressing Problems in the Law: What is the Law School for? Published in 1996, his book addresses many critical issues that are hauntingly present in the 21st century, amongst them the impact of globalisation; technological disruption; and the tension inherent in law schools as they seek to balance the competing interest of teaching, research and administration. Yet Birks' collection misses key issues, too. The role of wellbeing, of emotion or affect, the relation of legal education to education, the status of legal education in what, since his volume, have become the devolved jurisdictions of Northern Ireland, Wales and Scotland – these and others are absent from the research agenda of the book. Today, legal educators face new challenges. We are still recovering from the effects of the Covid-19 pandemic on our universities. In 1996 Birks was keen to stress the importance of comparative research within Europe. Today, legal researchers are dismayed at the possibility of losing valuable EU research funding when the UK leaves the EU, and at the many other negative effects of Brexit on legal education. The proposed Solicitors Qualifying Examination takes legal education regulation and professional learning into uncharted waters. This book discusses these and related impacts on our legal educations. As law schools approach an existential crossroads post-Covid-19, it seems timely to revisit Birks' fundamental question: what are law schools for?

Its characters include the philoprogenitive Bunny Kyle, the Bible-misquoting Murray Pearson, the misogynist idiot savant Grudge, the two Professors Dopson, the bluestocking Miranda Parker-Wescott, the sex siren Amber Debreceny, the beer-swilling playwright Smythe, and other maladjusted individuals"--Publisher's description.

The Fastest Loser Jan 25 2020 The Olympic Village has never been explored in literary fiction, until now...Herman arrives in a village where Iranians share the bus with Israelis; where Chinese gymnasts eat alongside their rivals from Taiwan; where German and British athletes jog through the streets together; and where Kenyans and Ethiopians waggle their medals in unison. He is on a search for the right sporting heroes to conceive and raise a child. Unable to consummate his own relationships, and having witnessed death in the Munich Olympic Village four decades earlier, he wishes to make new life from love between different peoples, nations, and ethnicities. Herman encounters Lily Wei Lee, a gymnast from Chinese Taipei. Believing she could be an ideal mother, he searches for an appropriate athletic mate to be her partner. He encourages her flirtation with Moses, a long distance runner from East Africa's Great Rift Valley. Yet Lily develops a closer relationship with Roger Benjamin, a British sprinter. A rivalry between Roger and Moses develops, with humorous but also eventually shocking consequences. This is a novel about sporting destiny and the nature of human association, the tension between physical and spiritual love. There are references, images, and allusions to real and historical athletes, from all the world's Olympic Villages: from Derek Redmond to Fu Mingxia, from Bob Beamon to Sharron Davies, from Roger Federer to Sally Gunnell. All their destinies become associated with Herman's fate as "a go-between in the love and loves of the village's youth."

Allegedly from David Coleman, British radio and TV commentator, at one of his many Olympic coverages, when he thought he was off air. A Lifetime of Training for Just 10 Seconds is a collection of quotations from Olympic athletes, eyewitnesses and commentators through the ages, whether written, broadcast, overheard or misreported. They are inspiring, devastating - often hilarious - and a fascinating insight into the Games, the people who watch and compete in them, and those labouring and slithering behind the scenes. The notes following the quotes give a potted history of the Games and its cast of characters. 'These are the

Die Goldproduktion der letzten 50 Jahre Jan 05 2021

Goldproduktion - die letzten 50 Jahre beschreibt die Entwicklung der weltweiten Goldproduktion seit Aufhebung des fixierten Goldpreises im Jahr 1968. Seit der Goldpreis mit Angebot und Nachfrage schwankt hat sich eine rasante Erhöhung und Verschiebung der Goldproduktion ergeben. Südafrika, der einstige Champion, fiel dramatisch zurück, andere Länder - USA, Kanada, Australien, Russland und vor allem China, übernahmen die Führung. Abhängig vom Goldpreis ergaben sich fünf große Produktionszyklen. Mit Erreichen eines Allzeithochs des Goldpreises lief der vierte Zyklus 2012 aus. Wir befinden uns mitten im fünften Zyklus, der mit einem Preisrückgang von 30% begann. Der Autor behandelt im Detail die Entwicklung der großen Förderländer und die dort wichtigen Goldbergbaugesellschaften. Eine Übersicht über die Geschichte der fünfzehn Gold-Produktions-Millionäre sowie ein umfangreicher Index der behandelten Minen runden die Darstellung ab.

zahlreiche einschneidende Veränderungen erlebt und befindet sich weiterhin in einem ständigen Umbruch. Den mit diesen Prozessen verbundenen Herausforderungen widmet sich der vorliegende Band, der die Forschungsergebnisse der Arbeitsgruppe »Zukunft des wissenschaftlichen Kommunikationssystems« der Berlin-Brandenburgischen Akademie der Wissenschaften vereint. Er lenkt den Blick erstmals auf den Zusammenhang zwischen vier Entwicklungslinien: Digitalisierung, Ökonomisierung, die zunehmende Außenbeobachtung von Publikationsaktivitäten anhand formaler Merkmale sowie die verstärkte Beobachtung durch die Massenmedien und deren Auswirkungen auf das wissenschaftliche Publikationssystem. Die Beiträge des ersten Teils geben die Sicht- und Herangehensweisen der zentralen Akteurguppen wieder: Verlage, Bibliotheken und Wissenschaftler. Expertisen zur Diskussion über das Urheberrecht sowie zu wissenschaftspolitischen Initiativen finden sich im zweiten Teil. Der abschließende dritte Teil richtet den Blick in die Zukunft und gibt kontroverse Ausblicke auf eine wünschenswerte Zukunft des wissenschaftlichen Publizierens. Der Band richtet sich an Wissenschaftler, Wissenschaftsorganisationen, Bibliotheken und Verlage.

Committee: Open Access - HC 99-I May 29 2020 The Government's commitment to increasing access to published research findings and its desire to achieve full open access are welcomed in this report from the Business, Innovation and Skills Committee. However, whilst Gold open access - where authors publish their articles in an open access journal that provides free immediate open access to all of its articles on the publisher's website - is a desirable ultimate goal, focusing on it during the transition to a fully open access world is a mistake. The Government and Research Council UK should reconsider their preference for Gold open access during the five year transition period, and give due regard to the evidence of the vital role that Green open access and repositories have to play as the UK moves towards full open access. (Authors opting for Green open access publish in any subscription journal, and then make their peer-reviewed final draft freely accessible online by self-archiving or depositing the article in a repository (either institutional or disciplinary) upon acceptance for publication.) Other recommendations include: promotion of standardisation and compliance across subject and institutional repositories; mitigation against the impact on universities of paying Article Processing Charges out of their own reserves; introduce a reduced VAT rate for e-journals; non-disclosure clauses should not be used in publishing contracts that include the use of public funds; BIS must review its consultation processes to ensure that lessons are learned from the lack of involvement of businesses, particularly SMEs, in the formation of open access policy when people resist. The book begins with selecting the positioning of the program not as an audit but as an opportunity to review strengths and opportunities, through to selecting senior leader support to design of the program and developing the assessors. More than 10 case studies are documented to show how organizations have approached their assessment programs, lessons learned, and successes and challenges faced. The book leads the reader through the process of selling the concept and importance of transformation and Lean assessments to embed the desired behaviors within workplace culture. With many case studies, the reader is guided to design their own programs and develop their own assessors. This increases the probability of sustainability of the transformation program by focusing on and maturing the behaviors the transformation programs are trying to drive. For example, one of the most well-known assessments is the Shingo prize -- This book explains the thinking behind the Shingo model and shares examples of assessments that support it. Other examples of assessments are covered, such as process maturity, quality and business assessments including The Baldrige quality award.

Towards a Comparative History of Coalfield Societies Dec 24 2019 Few areas of labour history have received as much attention as the coal industry, with miners often finding themselves at the centre of studies on working-class political and industrial history. Yet whilst much has been written about the struggles of miners and their unions in particular countries, their national confrontations and political organization, much less work has been done on the regional communities and how they related both to the national and international picture. The central theme of this volume is to transcend such over-arching national models and to focus instead on local coal mining societies which can then be compared and contrasted to similar communities elsewhere. In so doing the book is able to tackle a number of familiar labour history themes in a more nuanced way, exploring issues of political activism and class relationships from the perspectives of gender, ethnicity, race and specific localized cultural traditions. As the chapters in this volume illustrate, such an approach can offer rich and often surprising conclusions, in many cases challenging the accepted notion of miners as the vanguard of militant working-class political activism. Adopting a regional approach that compares coalfield communities from five continents, this volume reflects coalfield experiences on a truly global scale. By looking at what made communities unique as well as what they shared in common, a much fuller understanding of the workplace, neighbourhood, family, identity and political organization is possible. Underlining the strong connections between politics, community and identity, this work emphasizes the challenges and opportunities available to labour historians, pushing forward the boundaries of the discipline in new and exciting ways.

The Routledge Companion to the Reception of Ancient Greek and Roman Gender and Sexuality May 09 2021 This Companion covers a range of receptions of ancient Greek and Roman gender and sexuality. It explores ancient representations of these concepts as we define them today, as well as recent perspectives that have been projected back onto antiquity. Beginning in antiquity, the chapters examine how the ancient Greeks and Romans regarded concepts of what we would today call "gender" and "sexuality" based on the evidence available to us, and chart the varied interpretations and receptions of these concepts across time to the present day. In exploring how different cultures have "received" the classical past, the volume investigates these cultures' different interpretations of Greek and Roman sexualities, and what these interpretations can reveal about their own attitudes. Through the contributions in this book, the reader gains a deeper understanding of this essential part of human existence, derived from influential sources. From ancient to modern and postmodern perspectives, from cinematic productions to TikTok videos, receptions of ancient gender and sexuality abound. This volume is of interest to Strategie in Afrika und Mittlerem Osten: Von der klassischen Strategieentwicklung zur Emerging Market Strategie Jul 19 2019 Afrika und der Mittlere Osten gelten als stark unterschätzte Regionen. Afrika wird mit politischer Instabilität und Armut verbunden, während der Mittlere Osten als eine der größten Konfliktregionen der Welt gilt. Doch diese beiden Märkte einseitig aus dieser Perspektive zu betrachten, ist ein großer Fehler für jegliche Unternehmung. Globale Unternehmen und Investoren können es sich nicht mehr erlauben Afrika und den Mittleren Osten zu ignorieren. Afrika zeichnet sich durch steigende politische Stabilität, stetig besser werdende Geschäftsmöglichkeiten und durch langfristiges und nachhaltiges Wachstum aus. Auch der Mittlere Osten zeigt ein starkes positives Wirtschaftswachstum, ein großes Potenzial für Unternehmen und zeichnet sich durch zunehmende Diversifizierung und Stabilisierung aus. Diese Ausarbeitung beschäftigt sich zunächst mit der klassischen Strategieentwicklung und betrachtet diese kritisch in Bezug auf die beiden Emerging Markets. Afrika und der Mittlere Osten werden auf Chancen und Risiken makroökonomisch analysiert und Besonderheiten der Strategieentwicklung in diesen Regionen erläutert.
