Harry the Hypno-Potamus Jan 31 2020 This second book of metaphors for children will entertain and delight while the therapeutic message, cleverly embedded in the story, slips into the unconscious mind of the child. The tales enhance empowerment by exposing children to new possibilities, new perspectives and differing philosophies. For the clinician, the metaphors offer a treasure trove of techniques and hypnotic language that can be adapted for a variety of situations and problems. "This is an interesting book and definitely useful for anyone who treats children. The first part of the book is really a clinical guide for the user which is quite useful although most of the information in it is probably known to practitioners already. The second part of the book is full of metaphorical stories that can be used as is, or adapted to suit the needs of the practitioner and the child being treated. They are written in language that children can easily understand and so they can use the embedded commands and suggestions for their own benefit. I think that anyone who treats children in their practice would find this book very useful." -Terri Bodell, NACHP "Linda Thomson's special gift for meaningful storytelling will make it possible for children with a variety of presenting problems to benefit from her wisdom and compassion. Her hypnotic style encourages developing solutions to problems and, more than that, empowers young people to actively participate in a creative way in the process of growth." -Michael D. Yapko, PhD, Clinical Psychologist, author of Trancework: An Introduction to the Practice of Clinical Hypnosis

Logical Abilities in Children: Volume 3 Oct 29 2019 Originally published in 1975, this volume (3 of 4) presents an expanded model of certain deductive abilities in children and adults. A partial explanation of the growth of these abilities was suggested in Volume 2 of this series, and it is amplified here, both with regard to propositional logic and the logic of class inclusion. A new methodology is employed, the issue of the effect of content in deductive reasoning is covered, and developmental questions are reformulated. Although only data from experiments with adolescents are presented here, the volume sets the stage for potentially illustrating developmental comparisons, a topic pursued in Volume 4 of this novel and inventive series.

Disease Control Priorities, Third Edition (Volume 2) Jan 25 2022 The evaluation of reproductive, maternal, newborn, and child health (RMNCH) by the Disease Control Priorities, Third Edition (DCP3) focuses on maternal conditions, childhood illness, and malnutrition. Specifically, the chapters address acute illness and undernutrition in children, principally under age 5. It also covers maternal mortality, morbidity, stillbirth, and influences to pregnancy and pre-pregnancy. Volume 3 focuses on developments since the publication of DCP2 and will also include the transition to older childhood, in particular, the overlap and commonality with the child development volume. The DCP3 evaluation of these conditions produced three key findings: 1. There is significant difficulty in measuring the burden of key conditions such as unintended pregnancy, unsafe abortion, nonsexually transmitted infections, infertility, and violence against women. 2. Investments in the continuum of care can have significant returns for improved and equitable access, health, poverty, and health systems. 3. There is a large difference in how RMNCH conditions affect different income groups; investments in RMNCH can lessen the disparity in terms of both health and financial risk.
